G. A. R. ITEMS.

At the last meeting of Burnside Post No. 8, G. A. R., a very pleasant event occurred. Dept. Comdr. Urell and staff were present on an official visit. Comdr. Urell took the chair and recalled the fact that at the last dept. encampment a com. of past comdrs. had been appointed to present a suitable testimonial to Past Dept. Comdr. Odell. This com. was in attendance, ready to discharge their pleasant duty.

Comrade Harrison Dingman then made some highly flattering remarks to Past Comdr. Odell, and at their conclusion presented him with a fine gold watch and chain, as a token of the esteem in which he was held by the comrades of the Dept. Comdr. Odell made a fitting reply.

It is expected that a party of several hundred, possibly 1,000, will go from Washington to the G. A. R. National Encampment in Boston, beginning Aug. 11. Hundreds of friends of delegates will be represented by the following: J. Q. Brown, J. S. Stodder, L. M. York, and Thomas W. West. Alternates: Patrick O'Farrell, H. M. Bennett, A. Hart, and J. W. Freeman. John P. Church is a member of the national council of administration. The following are entitled to seats in the encampment: Comdr. M. Emmett Urell, Senior Vice Comdr. S. F. Fauze, Junior Vice Comdr. Calvin Farnsworth, Asst. Adjt. Gen. John M. Keogh, Dept. Comdr. Frank H. Sprague, Benjamin F. Hawkes, A. H. G. Richardson, George E. Corson, Harrison Dingman, Charles C. Rozer, William Gibson, Samuel S. Burdett, Newton M. Brooks, Jerome B. Burke, and Charles P. Lincoln. It was hoped for a time that the National Encampment might be induced to meet in Washington next year, but the hope has now been abandoned. G. A. R. men say sufficient encouragement was not given them by citizens generally that the funds necessary for entertaining the encampment would be subscribed. Consequently, Dept. Comdr. Urell yesterday discharged the com. which was appointed to look after the matter, and no invitation will be issued to the National Encampment to come here in 1891.

A careful canvass of the 3d Batt. shows that the following will be the strength of the 4 cos. at the coming encampment: Co. A, 35; Co. B, 45; Co. C, 30; Co. D, 45. Total, 155.

At the regular monthly meeting of the 3d Batt., held on the evening of July 7, the following members were ordered expelled for non-attendance at drills and non-payment of dues, unless within two weeks from date they pay their dues and fines in full and ask for an honorable discharge: Co. A—J. J. Coulter, Co. B—Martin M. C. Garvey, Okey Barnett, and Sydney G. Stocker, Co. C—George Smith and Charlie R. Ricketts, Co. D—Benjamin N. Brouner.

The regular monthly dues were reduced from 50 cents to 25 cents at the monthly meeting of the 3d Batt. on the 7th.

A well-attended meeting of the National Rifles was held last Thursday evening, with Capt. Oyster in the chair. A noticeable feature of the evening was the election of a large number of honorary members. The regular drills of the co. have been suspended during the hot weather, but a number of the "regulars" will meet once a week, as of old, to forget not their cunning with the gun. A good deal of suppressed merriment was noticed when the score was read of the annual shoot, which was held at the Arsenal grounds on the Fourth of July. Some of the crack shots did shooting that amateurs would be ashamed of, and consequently the prizes of the co. were distributed among the new members, by good scores, considering that no practice was indulged in. A handsome set of engrossed resolutions was presented by the honorary members through Mr. Will Findlay, and now occupy a prominent place in the Armory to ever keep in mind the happy time spent at Marshall Hall by the stag party given to the honorary members of the co.

WOES OF ARMY MEN.

One Who Has Been for Twenty-three Years a Lieutenant of Artillery.

New York Cor. Pittsburgh Dispatch.

While over at Fort Hamilton the other day I met Lieut. Van Ness, of the First United States Artillery, which has recently been transferred from the Pacific Coast. Lieut. Van Ness belongs to the famous Van Ness family whose mansion of a hundred years ago stands upon the banks of the Potomac below the White House and has been the subject of undying interest to the Washington correspondent. Lieut. Van Ness was a mere boy toward the close of the Rebellion, since which he has been in the service, where his father was before him. There was a vein of pathos in his tone when he informed me that he had been for twenty-three years in his present grade as first lieutenant of artillery. He stands at the head of his grade, however, and will probably be rewarded with the next captaincy which becomes vacant. That is to say, if no ex-Army officer is restored to the Army Register unexpectedly to interfere with his promotion. If our Navy officers, who kink so much about the slowness of promotion, would glance at the chances of a young subaltern of artillery they would feel that they had much to be thankful for.

I was surprised to learn from the officers thus transferred from San Francisco that the most of them regretted the change. In the Army and Navy it is popularly supposed that New York is a desirable post. It seems, however, that, so far as the United States artillery is concerned, San Francisco is much more desirable. While Fort Hamilton is very pleasantly situated, and the quarters of the officers seem to be in every way suitable, the surroundings of the military station at the Golden Gate are in every respect more pleasant. There are always more or less close friendships to be broken by such a transfer. The very fact that the soldier must leave his favorite horse behind him, and is separated from his family and daily acquaintances of guns and equipments, is not without the elements of deep regret.

If you could hear one of these men recalling the memory of the horse he had trained to his personal use, or speaking fondly of the cannon his own hands had helped daily to burnish, you would think that these objects animate and inanimate were graven on his heart. "The guns we left behind us," said Lieut. Van Ness, as he gazed contemptuously upon the lacquered piece before him, and speaking as a man might speak of the girl he had left behind him, "shone like burnished silver. Look at these."

"The horse I had in San Francisco," said the sergeant, softly stroking the sleek coat of the animal in the stall, "I had trained to answer the bugle and to lie down and rise up at the word of command. Ah! he was a beauty!"
